

Backfill Script Flow

Purpose: The following illustrates the high level flow that we will utilize when attempting to backfill relevant transaction data already persisted for users in order to make some personalized neural networks that are accurate in suggesting categories based on transaction meta data

